

TELL AUDIENCE:

Know where to go for investment help.

Examples of magazines include Smart Money, Kiplinger's Personal Finance, Money, and BetterInvesting Magazine.

An excellent home study course is "Investing For Your Future," developed by the Cooperative Extension Service. Go to www.investing.rutgers.edu.

To find out more about online investing, a good resource is investingonline.org. You'll find valuable information about myths, broker ratings, and how to get started. Take the quiz, "Are You Ready?" Click on "Online Complaint Center" if you have problems related to investing.

In addition to the resources listed on Handout 3, remember that the credit union has staff to help you and answer your investment questions.

HANDOUT 3: *List of Investment Resources

NOTE TO INSTRUCTOR: Ask the credit union to review the resources and Web sites on the handout and make changes as necessary before copying the list for participants.
