

A recent study by the National Credit Union Administration... the federal agency that charters and supervises credit unions confirms that credit unions are meeting their mission.

The study states that "credit unions are serving those they have been chartered to serve – working individuals."*

But, our 89 million members knew that already.

"My credit union was there for me making a loan to my daughter for her first car."

- Bob Orrill

Flagstaff, AZ, Fire Fighter, Member of Coconino Federal Credit Union.

"My credit union helped me secure a first time home buyer down payment and a mortgage loan enabling me to buy my own home."

- Renee Fickel

Lima, OH, Legal Secretary, Member of Superior Federal Credit Union.

"When I came out of college, I had a dream to start my own business... my credit union jumped right on board."

- Calvin Mills, Jr.

CEO & Co-Founder of C&V Enterprises of LA, LLC, Member of Campus Federal Credit Union.

"Thanks to my credit union, I was able to obtain a home equity loan that helped pay for my son's education."

- Karen Johnston

Philadelphia, PA, HR Representative, Member of American Heritage Federal Credit Union.

Meeting their mission. Helping working Americans.
That's why 89 million Americans love their credit union.
