Your Savings Are Safe—
So Is Your Credit Union

For the most part, the nation's more than 7,500 credit unions have been innocent bystanders in the financial crisis that led to the recent recession. Still, credit unions protect themselves against losses, so taxpayers don't have to.

Without a doubt, your savings are safe and insured to at least $250,000—backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government.
